Fiscal Information

According to the fiscal note prepared by the Division of the Budget on the bill, the Office of Judicial Administration (OJA) states enactment of the bill could increase the number of cases filed in district court, which could result in more time spent by court employees and judges processing and deciding those cases. OJA indicates additional supervision of offenders could be required of court services officers, and could result in the collection of additional docket and supervision fees assessed. However, a fiscal effect cannot be estimated.

The Kansas Sentencing Commission states enactment of the bill could have an effect on prison admissions and beds; however, the Commission does not have enough information to estimate what that effect could be. Any fiscal effect associated with enactment of the bill is not reflected in The FY 2023 Governor’s Budget Report.
