FY 2013 Adjustments

General State Aid

- Increase in weighted FTE of 3,582, resulting in an additional $13.4 million.
- Reduction in local effort. The prior estimate was $562.3 million and the revised November estimate is $558.4 million.
- Reduction in School District Finance Fund receipts.
- Without the additional funding, the BSAPP would be reduced $31 to $3,807 for the 2012-2013 school year.

Supplemental State Aid

- Since FY 2010, a flat appropriation of approximately $339.0 million has been made for Supplemental General State Aid. This results in the amount to school districts being prorated. If the same amount is appropriated for FY 2013, it would result in a proration of 78.8 percent.

Capital Outlay State Aid

- Capital Outlay State Aid has not been funded since FY 2010.

Special Education

- Increase is based on a salary increase of 2.5 percent and the addition of 75 teachers at an average salary of $62,104. In the past, the estimate has centered around the addition of approximately 25 teachers but in the 2011-2012 school year, over 200 teachers were added.

KPERS - School

- Estimated a 1.0 percent pay increase for teachers, however, the pay increase was higher.
