

2012 Kansas Statutes

75-2133. Same; termination of easement, when; conveyance or assignment. If at any time the grantee of any such easement shall abandon said easement or attempt to devote said easement to a use different from and inconsistent with the use for which such easement was granted, the easement shall automatically terminate: Provided, That the grantee of any such easement may convey or assign such easement to his or her or its successor for the continuation of the use for which said easement was originally granted.

History: L. 1955, ch. 298, § 4; June 30.